Wormwood normally grows up to a height between one and three feet and bears leaves that are smooth, hairy and contain secretory cells.